Testimonials:

"Ben Gregory-Ring produced some stunning images from a recent feature film I worked on. While on set, he always knew the right time to step in & I was impressed by not being annoyed by the on set photographer like I normally am! Couldn't recommend him highly enough."

- Emily Almond Barr, DOP of Macbeth, Screen Northants, Feature Film, 2018.

"During pre-production, I felt some BTS photos would be 'handy' for post-production and advertisement. Upon completion of the filming process, Ben Gregory-Ring's photos have become the sole reason our film is turning heads. His photos have sky rocketed the production value of our film and have prompted a highly positive response. I cannot express enough how valuable Ben's work has been. On top of that, Ben is an absolute pleasure on set, not once did he get in the way of any filming and yet he managed to produce a wide array of varied photos and all of an extraordinarily high quality. He is a highly valuable asset and a must have for advertising purposes."

- Richard Summers-Calvert, Managing Director at Crucible Films Ltd, Director of Within the Fray, Short Film, June 2016.

"Ben was perfect to work with on set capturing some amazing production stills for the Outlier Films music video 'Where you Are' by British group Ekklesia. He was someone who used every given opportunity to capture great moments behind the film camera before they were lost, all at the same time as completely respecting the unspoken protocol of the film set; being present but not over bearing or distracting. His coverage was great as he has an insightful eye for what makes a great shot and is instinctual; feeling out the drama of the set. I recommend Ben highly and I look forward to working with him again in the future."

- Shabazz L. Graham, Director of Ekklesia – Where You Are, Music Video, February 11th 2015.

"Ben was a pleasure to work with especially on our difficult shoot where time was limited and conditions were troublesome due to heat and limited space. Ben was very inventive, polite, professional and a genuine pleasure to work with. I can recommend him without reservation."

- James Fair, Director of The Confusion of Tongues-72 Project, August 12th 2014.

"It was a great experience working with Ben. The quality of stills he produced was excellent, capturing moving shots of actors running at speed and on set-shots that felt candid and natural. He understood the importance of keeping a discrete distance when the actors were working, while also being very good at stealing in and getting the great shot when the moment allowed. He was always on time and a pleasure to have on set. I wouldn't hesitate to recommend him."

- Graham Higgins, Director of Mile End, June 26th 2014.
